Everything at hand

Depending on their tasks or just on the spur of the moment, employees flexibly look for a place where they can work in a productive way. This also means alternating between working in the office and working at home. However, no matter where the workplace is, we always need a laptop, headset and charging cable, and our wallet, keys and smartphone are also our constant companions. The practical Sedus business bag ensures that everything is always at hand. se:bag has been designed specifically for applications and users in agile working environments.
